5. FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

What are acceptable forms of proof of insurance cover referred to in Section 2(b)?

Acceptable forms of proof include:

- A recent member statement from your former fund (or former insurer) or
- A Certificate of Currency – this document provides proof of your insurance coverage on the date that the certificate is requested. It is only valid on the day in which it is issued and represents information current at the time of the request. You can ask your former fund to obtain a Certificate of Currency directly from your fund's insurer.

A Record of Contributions (ROCs) is not an acceptable form of proof of insurance cover.

If your insurance cover has changed since the date your statement or Certificate of Currency was issued, you need to provide evidence of your current type and level of insurance.

Can I only transfer my cover to my current fund if I was previously underwritten (i.e. if I provided medical evidence)?

No. You can transfer cover into your current fund even if you obtained it automatically, through another superannuation fund.

How will my Transferred Cover be calculated?

For fixed-dollar cover, the amount of cover remains the same irrespective of changes in your age, but the premium will increase on each birthday. Transferred Cover will be rounded up to the next highest multiple of $1,000. For example, if you hold fixed-dollar cover equal to $150,200, your Transferred Cover will be rounded up to $151,000.

For unitised cover, the insured benefit is based on a number of units, where one unit represents a set amount which generally depends on how old you are. Transferred Cover will provide a sufficient number of units to replace your Previous Cover.

What happens to my existing cover with my current fund?

Generally, your transferred Death and/or TPD cover will be added to any current Death and/or TPD cover (including automatic and voluntary cover) with the current fund, subject to your current fund's maximum levels of cover.

For transferring Salary Continuance cover, you will be insured for the greater of the monthly benefit held with the former fund and the monthly benefit held with the current fund, subject to the maximum level of cover. Premiums may vary – please refer to Emplus current PDS for maximum level of cover and premium rates.

What if special conditions apply to my Previous Cover?

Any limitation, restriction or loading that applied to your Previous Cover will continue to apply to your Transferred Cover in Emplus. For example, if your Disability cover in the former fund had a back exclusion, that back exclusion will apply to your increased Disability cover in Emplus.

What waiting period and benefit period will apply to my Salary Continuance cover?

The waiting period will be matched as best as possible to the same relevant period applicable to your Previous Cover.

When you transfer Salary Continuance cover to Emplus, the waiting period that applies to your cover will be:

- 30 days if it was 30 days or less with the former fund;
- 60 days if it was between 30 and 60 days with the former fund, and you are a member of the Childcare Division of Emplus Super;
- 90 days if it was greater than 30 days but less than or equal to 90 days with your former fund, and you are not a member of the Childcare Division of Emplus.

The benefit period will be 2 years.

Is there a maximum amount of cover I can transfer using this form?

Yes. You can transfer up to $1,000,000 of Death or Death and TPD cover and /or Salary Continuance with a monthly benefit of up to $20,000.

When will my Transferred Cover commence?

From the date your insurance application is accepted by OnePath Life, provided there are sufficient funds in your account to pay the premium.

Will my Transferred Cover be on the same terms as my Previous Cover?

No. If your application to transfer insurance cover into Emplus is approved, the insurance cover will be subject to the terms and conditions of OnePath's policies issued to the Trustee of Emplus. If you are unsure about what this means for your Transferred Cover, it is recommended that you obtain financial advice before applying to transfer your insurance cover.

DUTY OF DISCLOSURE

The Trustee who enters into a life insurance contract in respect of your life has a duty, before entering into the contract, to tell the insurer, OnePath Life Limited (Insurer) anything that they know, or could reasonably be expected to know, may affect the Insurer's decision to provide the insurance and on what terms.

The Trustee has this duty until the Insurer agrees to provide the insurance.

The Trustee has the same duty before they extend, vary or reinstate the contract.

The Trustee does not need to tell the Insurer anything that:

- reduces the risk the Insurer insures you for; or
- is of common knowledge; or
- the Insurer knows or should know as an Insurer, or
- the Insurer waives your duty to tell the Insurer about.

In order for the Trustee to comply with the duty of disclosure, we require you to tell us [Trustee] and the Insurer, anything you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, that may affect the Insurer's decision to insure you and on what terms.

If you do not tell us and the Insurer something that you know, or could reasonably be expected to know, may affect the Insurer's decision to provide the insurance and on what terms, this may be treated as a failure by the Trustee entering into the contract to tell the Insurer something that they must tell the Insurer.

If you do not tell the Insurer something

In exercising the following rights, the Insurer may consider whether different types of cover can constitute separate contracts of life insurance. If they do, the Insurer may apply the following rights separately to each type of cover.

If you do not tell us or the Insurer anything you are required to, and the Insurer would not have provided the insurance or entered into the same contract with the Trustee if you had told the Insurer and the Trustee, the Insurer may avoid the contract within 3 years of entering into it.

If the Insurer chooses not to avoid the contract, the Insurer may, at any time, reduce the amount of insurance provided. This would be worked out using a formula that takes into account the premium that would have been payable if you had told the Insurer and the Trustee everything you should have. However, if the contract provides cover on death, the Insurer may only exercise this right within 3 years of entering into the contract.

If the Insurer chooses not to avoid the contract or reduce the amount of insurance provided, the Insurer may, at any time vary the contract in a way that places the Insurer in the same position it would have been in if you had told the Insurer and the Trustee everything you should have.

However this right does not apply if the contract provides cover on death.

If the failure to tell the Insurer is fraudulent, the Insurer may refuse to pay a claim and treat the contract as if it never existed.

As a condition of your membership to the Fund, the Trustee requires you to comply with this Duty of Disclosure and to disclose every matter that you know will be relevant to the Insurer's decision to accept the risk of insurance, and if so, on what terms.
